TWN HL. The Town Fathers held a routine meeting Monday night, opening bills and issuing various building permits for work in the colored section on Avenue A during the busy season. In addition, several main short streets will be repaired and resurfaced.

Street work is progressing nicely, reports Mayor Baker, who also stated that Avenue B and 5th street from Canal Road to Avenue E will be paved with a view to eliminating traffic congestion on Avenue A during the busy season. In addition, several main short streets will be repaired and resurfaced.

Last Friday night our town fire department and their families enjoyed a barbecue with all the trainings on the lawn of the town hall. The barbecue having been prepared in the pits at the park. Special guests included the Mayor and his wife and the Town Clerk. Approximately 25 persons attended. Excitement ruled when a fire alarm was received. However, this proved to be out of the town district and was turned over to the fire control chief for action. The fire had started in the Rudek pump house on the Brown Farm Road destroying the pump house which was valued at approximately $200.00. The pumping machinery was undamaged.

Fire Chief Lawrence Will reports the city is expecting to buy another length of water line. This is badly needed during the dry months in order to reach the low water line in the canals.

Night Patrolman J. E. Hodges is slowly improving in the U. S. Migratory hospital here from the beating he received last Sunday night by three negroes, Ralph, Earl and Irvin Johnson, in the negro quarters here. His injuries included body bruises and head lacerations inflicted by the partolman's own black-jack.

The negroes were turned over to the jurisdiction of the criminal court in West Palm Beach, and were placed in the county jail Wednesday by Constable John Kirk on a justice of the peace charge to await action by County Solicitor W. E. Roebuck. The assistants are not sure if Bahamian negroes. One of the group was to have been sent to Camp Blanding Monday morning, according to advices received.

Almost Record Crowd Compete In Two Ball Foursomes Sunday

With 38 players participating in the tournament and six additional players on the course, the local Country Club of the Everglades enjoyed practically a record number of players for one day.

Each twosome was composed of one man and one woman battling and chasing a single ball, alternating turns at striking. With the handicaps each twosome had an opportunity to win. Low net score was made by Dr. Ellsbury and Doc Fording, while second place was taken by Luther Jones and Mrs. Clarence Aspy. Third place was a tie between O. G. McWhorter and Alice VanLandingham and Sonny Smith and Daphne Schreier with 69's.

Chas. Puckett and Louise McWhorter had low gross of $1. Hard-to-get balls were given as prizes.

County's Farmers Can Reduce Costs With 4-Way Jeeps

Farmers of Palm Beach County, many of whom have indicated through a national survey their desire to own a Jeep after the war, can save approximately $241,640 for post-war rehabilitation if they take advantage of the scout car's four-sided personality, a recent study reveals.

This figure is based on the difference between the estimated price of a post-war Jeep and the total cost of the four farm units which, according to extensive research and experimentation, it can replace.

Recent tests by accredited farm experts, including officials of the Department of Agriculture, reveal that the Jeep has a "great deal of the Jeep has a mechanical veins," according to Ward M. Canaday, president of Willys-Overland Motors, who said his company's engineers have proven "on the soil" that the scout car can be used as an effective four-purpose substitute for the horse, the tractor, the independent power unit and the light truck.

In the Department of Agriculture report on its experiments with the vehicle, issued by R. B. Gray, head of the Farm Equipment and Research Division, the Jeep was described as "highly useful in plowing, harrowing and other field work." First findings in the continuing study, conducted by the agriculture engineering departments of Washington State College and Ohio State University demonstrate that the vehicle, in its present military form, serves many all-around purposes effectively, especially for the small farm.

Allison And Wallis To Discuss Overall Water Control

Soil Use and Conservation With Available Water To Be Considered

A meeting has been called by George Royal, President of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce for June 15th at 8:00 p.m. for the purpose of a general discussion of a proposed overall land use, conservation and water control plan.

Dr. R. V. Allison, now of Gainesville, but son of Belle Glade and Turner Wallis, general manager of the Everglades Drainage District, will spend ten minutes each discussing the problems of the three canals—West Palm Beach, Hillsboro and North New River—that affect the nearby farm lands. Then the meeting will be thrown open to questions which these two gentlemen will attempt to answer.

Since a suggested basis for commencement of consideration of a plan was made in a report of the Advisory Committee recently calls for the setting aside of certain lands not adaptable for agriculture at this time, and certain improvements to the canals mentioned, the matter is of utmost importance to every farmer in the area.

It has been predicted frequently recently, in view of information gathered in the report of the Advisory Committee, that any heavy rains after crops have been begun would find the entire Glades farming area submerged. This is due to the fact that thousands of acres have been added to the tiller lands and no additional capacities for run off have been made to these three canals. The new pumps alone, outside of the South Florida and the two Pahokee districts, would more than furnish capacity of them canals for run-off.

It is hoped that all farmers, landowners and others interested will attend the meeting, ask questions, and add generally to the discussions.

The proposed plans anticipate the spending of many millions and everyone interested in seeing such improvements without unmanageable tax burdens should attend this meeting to care for their own interests.

County Poultrymen Praised As Larger Use Of Eggs Urged

Palm Beach County poultrymen are asked by the government to produce approximately 248,541 dozen eggs this year as their part in the Food for Victory program, the National Poultry Defense Council announced today.

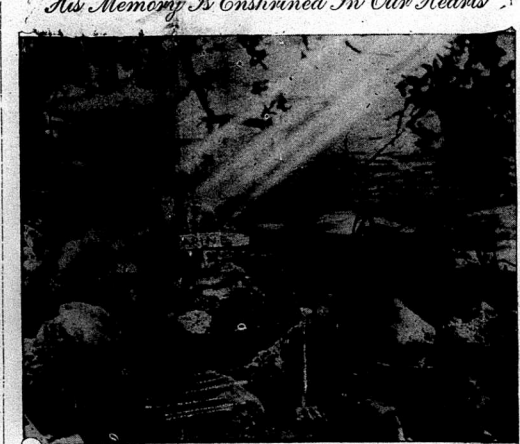

This county goal can best be reached if housewives take full advantage of the present egg surplus and plan more menus calling for greater use of eggs, thus encouraging farmers to maintain high production, declared County Secretary L. Todd.

In urging poultrymen to meet the 1944 quota, Todd pointed out the current egg abundance.

Biggest Shipping Season On Record Headache For Many

The rapidly dwindling shipments of produce from this area totaled only 75 cars during the week and the 1943-44 vegetable season is practically a thing of the past, except the hanger heads which in many cases will not be forgotten easily.

The farmers who emerged from this hectic season with a woe and rare indeed the man who will be burdened with heavy income taxes this year.

Shipments during the season have broken all previous records but poor prices, labor problems and weather conditions all contributed toward the grief of the farmers.

Clewiston. — For the first time in history cattle have been "finished" for market without the aid of pasture.

In announcing today success of the trials, Dr. B. A. Bourne, vice president and director of research for the United States Sugar Corp., said use of a grain-based ration could be of utmost importance during war when grains are needed for starving populations and for feeding of large armies.

Throughout four trials operated by the sugar company over periods from 100 to 130 days, cattle fed on a grain diet averaged gains from 1.95 to 2.48 pounds daily.

Dr. Bourne said major portion of the diet consisted of lemongrass pulp and molasses feed, a roughage feed with approximately 30 per cent molasses.

A PERSONAL MATTER

Dr. E. H. Skinner, editor of the Kansas City Medical Journal, expresses some basic thoughts in connection with Federal socialization of medicine as proposed under the bending Wagner health bill. He points out that a survey of public opinion shows that a majority of people are concerned about finding methods of meeting unpredictable expenses of catastrophic illness, and says, "The politician and social workers offer government medical services as an answer to this developing demand. Insurance companies offer accident and health insurance. Industry or management offers contributory or participating disability insurance. Some groups of physicians offer attractive pre-payment schemes. Some county medical societies offer cooperative pre-payment methods."

"It is so easy to argue that the medical profession must accept the whole responsibility of extending and distributing all the services to all the people. But the responsibility must be shared by each of the basic factors in the whole problem."

"Government should encourage the people to accept solutions that are adapted to democratic economies, rather than promoting totalitarian mediocrity."

"There can be no isolation of responsibility to medicine, to labor, to industry or insurance. The people themselves must accept and discharge their individual and collective responsibility by agreeing that good health and attention to their illnesses can never be a matter of governmental spending through bureaus."

"Any health service based on shared expense, that is sound in principle, must be subject to actuarial proof and stabilization."

"Social security," including socialized medicine, is not an insurance policy. It is a matter of legislation that can be changed, shifted, sacrificed or bankrupted by the same legislators that created it."

MARKETING ORGANIZATIONS
IMPORTANT NOW

Current events indicate that the farmers, as never before, will have to use exceptional judgment to operate successfully. For example, there is now a record-breaking number of animals on the farm—cattle, hogs, chickens and turkeys.

The business organizations of the farmers, such as marketing co-ops, which production and consumer trends, can render the individual farmer service as never before in aiding him with production and marketing information which would be impossible for him to provide for himself. Particularly in the dairy and cattle industry will intelligent group action be essential to stabilization of output and income.

BLACK MAGIC

American industry has never been stagnant. It is so busy supplying the needs of the people that it often fails to tell its achievements that make this nation a constantly better place in which to live.

How many people know that research in bituminous coal combustion has resulted in at least two innovations which may be widely utilized after the war? One of these is a smokeless type stove designed for bituminous coal. Another is a new type mechanical stoker which comes under the classification of fully automatic.

Here is an industry which is steadily improving the efficiency of the product it sells. In order to increase its output, it strives to reduce unit consumption and thereby broaden its potential markets.

The consumer benefits from this spirit of initiative in a progressive industry that seeks to keep abreast of the times and meet competitive conditions.

THE SIGNS ARE CLEAR

During the decade of peace preceding the war, the Federal government was going deeper and deeper into debt. The public was beleaguered by bitter arguments from two schools of thought concerning government borrowing and government spending. The "we owe-it-to-ourselves" school claimed that it made no difference how high the debt goes because with the proper "planning economy," debt is an asset rather than a liability.

A second school of thought argued that inordinate government borrowing leads to bankruptcy and loss of individual freedom.

A generation of voters has now reached maturity never knowing any other than a "borrowing" government. The country to all outward appearances is prosperous and the citizens are still free. However, in spite of appearances, the philosophy of wasteful spending has been proven wrong.

No one will longer claim that our public debt is a burden whose weight is barely felt. And government officials themselves cry that "easy money" government borrowing has made necessary a mountain of regulations to save the nation from "inflation."

The extent to which these regulations threaten individual liberty is not yet generally realized. Recently a Massachusetts meat wholesaler was accused of selling cuts of beef above OPA ceiling prices. He was convicted of criminal violation of the Emergency Price Control Act. The case was carried through to the United States Supreme Court, which held that a person so convicted could not challenge the constitutionality of the Act except in a limited period of time, and then only before an emergency court.

THE POCKETBOOK

Thus does the grim result of the "owing it to ourselves" theory make itself felt in inflation and in arbitrary, freedom-destroying regulations. As the Portland Oregonian observes: "... For the first time in the history of America, a citizen can be hauled into court on a criminal charge and told that his denial of the constitutionality of the law is no defense."

"Surely it will be patent upon reflection that if the citizen can be refused the protection of the Constitution in this instance, he can be refused it in any and all cases. Nor does it matter how worthy the OPA aim may be, inflation would be preferable to a return to that slavery from which the blood of our forefathers rescued us."

This is a portent of national bankruptcy. It is still not too late to turn back if the fallacy of believing that unlimited debt does no harm, is abandoned, and government borrowing brought under control at the war's end.

KICK OR BE LICKED

There has been general acceptance of the idea of rationing and reasonable price control as a war measure. Everyone understands that the problems of the OPA are multitudinous. But the public cannot understand why price and rationing control is allowed to develop into a method of oppression in many cases.

Take a ruling like the "highest price line limitation," adopted two years ago. It has been unworkable on a basis of fairness and equality. It is therefore heartening to read that at last certain adjustments will be made, although the public now takes such promises with a "spoonful" of salt.

Another practice of the price control program which is shaking public confidence, is denial of court appeal on OPA rulings. No satisfactory answer has yet been given for shutting a man out of regular courts when he objects to a ruling of the OPA, and forcing him to go before an OPA "emergency court" where a complainant can be put to terminable delays.

While the war makes some restrictive measures necessary, it still remains highly important to seek correction of rulings which, if unchallenged, leave the citizen outside the courts and at the mercy of political forces beyond his control.

Why Farmers Should
Buy and Hold War Bonds

by Charles H. Merchant
Head, Dept. of Agricultural Economics
University of Maine

WE are winning this global war but final victory may be a long way off. In the meantime, the day after tomorrow is near, but we must plan for a long war, one which may last two or more years. Certainly, it is disheartening to think that much of our fighting on both the European and Asiatic fronts is ahead of us, and that the day after tomorrow is near. Unpleasant as this outlook appears, it is much better than the alternative. It is the farmer's job and his part in it to produce farm products as never before, under the most trying and difficult conditions.

In some countries food production by farmers is taken away from them, but here in America farmers in general receive good prices for their farm products. Some of the extra money received should go into the purchase of War Bonds for the financing of this war. All must buy War Bonds, for one boy at the front must be supplied with food, clothing and equipment. The money to buy these things must come from the pockets of the boys at the front. The purchase of War Bonds is a privilege and each of us should be content; blackstrap molasses in unlimited quantities made available in self-feeding troughs; small percentage of high protein supplements in the form of cotton seed, peanut or soy bean meal, depending on which is available, and the usual mineral supplements.

In two trials common steers with a small proportion of good breeding were used. A third group was of Hereford-Angus crosses, while the fourth lot was grade Hereford steers. All were conditioned on improved pastures and molasses until they were placed on full feed in the experimental feed lots.

Dr. Bourne pointed out that the success of the trials was backed by the high dressing percentage of the steers, ranging from 54.91 to 60.63.

In discussing the diet, he said the feeding of cane molasses as a source of vitamins does not seem to have received proper attention by commercial feeders and experimental workers.

"Since many of the vitamins ordinarily found in the grain used for finishing steers are found also in Florida cane molasses, it becomes evident that an explanation of our ability to finish high grade steers without any grain whatsoever may be found partly in the vitamin content of Florida cane molasses derived from the high-nitrogen organic soils in the Everglades," Dr. Bourne said.

The feeding of molasses on the pasture of liberty to steer preliminary to pen feeding has been found to be very desirable and beneficial in that the animals adapt themselves to pen feeding more rapidly after such conditioning treatment and begin to make rapid gains sooner," he reported.

The revolutionary diet, in addition to its wartime value, could prove of assistance to farmers during peacetime, as grains are high-priced and needed for purposes other than feeding, he explained.

Use of the diet today, he as-
